UN Assembly Asked to Act in Hungary Case

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge today called on a special session of the U. N. General Assembly to act with all speed to end "the present grim course of events" in communist-controlled Hungary.

"The people of Hungary are being shot and imprisoned and maltreated now," Lodge told the 81-nation assembly. "Their sufferings are actual and acute and demand from one day to the next to be relieved."

Lodge spoke after the Hungarian delegation sought unsuccessfully to have the assembly drop the problem.

Australia's Keith C. O. Shann, reporter of the Assembly's special committee of inquiry, opened the session by presenting the committee's 150,000-word report indicting the Soviet Union and the regime of Premier János Kádár for suppressing the uprising of last fall.

"It is not enough to accept the doubt that the Hungarian people want freedom and that they are being subjected to brutal repression," Lodge said.

Lodge said he feared of the United States is that the Assembly take action.

"It is not enough to accede to the fact that we are too tired or too preoccupied or too timid to act upon it," he declared. "We must indeed make further efforts."

The U. S. delegate told the Assembly it must rely mainly upon the hope that the Soviet Union will change its attitude and "act in harmony with the conscience of the world."

"The greatest danger we face," he said, "is that we will give in to despair. We know what is right. Although there is considerable physical power behind the thing which is wrong, those who wield that power are human beings who can be brought to change their minds."

Lodge urged the Assembly to approve a resolution, supported by the United States and 34 other countries, placing the problem in the hands of a prominent world figure with broad authority to seek a solution.

The resolution also included a new condemnation of the Soviet Union and the Kádár regime and urged them to "desist from repressive measures against the Hungarian people."

Lodge said many delegations felt that "the chance of progress could be increased if the General Assembly were to appoint a special representative of outstanding eminence to pursue the objectives of the General Assembly on the Continued on Page Two

Violence in Alabama Halts Integration

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Phillips High School, scene of anti-integration violence yesterday, was evacuated of its all-white student body of 2,400 today because of an anonymous bombing threat.

Calls both to central police headquarters and to the high school said a bomb had been placed in the block-square downtown building to go off at 9:59 a.m. CST.

Fire bells rang at the school and the students marched out promptly. Police, on guard against any new violence or against any new attempt to enroll Negroes, blocked off the streets surrounding the school.

Police Capt. J. W. Garrison said the call to the school came at 9:45 a.m. CST, and the building was emptied in orderly fashion within about five minutes.

The high school students, many of them laughing or smiling, marched across a street into East Park.

This development followed swiftly after police broke up a noisy anti-integration demonstration at Woodlawn High, in the eastern residential area.

About 75 to 100 Woodlawn students made up a shouting throng as they refused to attend classes. Some yelled "No Negroes will get by us," police threatened to turn a fire hose on them and they marched away from the school.

A score of more of the Woodlawn demonstrators shortly appeared at Phillips, some three miles away, and were turned away by police.

Governors Rap and Praise Faubus' Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Some governors spoke out yesterday against the actions of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus on the school integration issue, while others raised their voices in Faubus' defense. Numerous governors chose to remain silent on the issue.

One defender was Democratic Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, who said he thought Faubus, in ordering the National Guard to keep Negroes out of a school where a federal court had ordered integration, was "on sound ground."

But at Madison, Wis., Gov. Vernon Thomson, Republican, said that from here Gov. Faubus' action appears to be a shocking disregard of lawful procedure.

"It is reminiscent of the stand of the South in the Civil War. It is difficult to understand," he added.

Another Republican governor, Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, has said: "No member of the Maryland National Guard will ever be asked to cross his rifle at a schoolyard gate to bar the entrance of a little girl."

Among Democratic governors attacking Faubus' action were Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey.

Supporting President Eisenhower's statement that he would stand by the Constitution in the Little Rock crisis, Harriman said: "I earnestly hope that Faubus now realizes that he has been badly advised, that he will reverse his stand and support the federal court order."

"The use of the National Guard to defy, rather than uphold, our federal Constitution is a precedent which must not be permitted Continued on Page Three

Integrated School Ruined, Three Arrested

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A massive dynamite blast wrecked a newly integrated half-million-dollar Hattie Cotton School here early today. Police arrested five men for questioning.

Three of the five were arrested when they refused to move from the vicinity of another school which, like the dynamited one, was among six where white and Negro first graders went to classes for the first time yesterday.

Officers said they found at the homes of the other two 50 feet of wire of the type used with the explosives which wrecked Hattie Cotton School.

The first three arrested were charged with unlawful possession of weapons and ordered held under bonds of $25,000 each. They were booked as Vernon Albert Crimmons, 32; James R. Harris, 47; and J. B. Blackwell, 42.

The other two arrested, identified as Carol Crimmons, brother of Venson, and W. D. Hodge, were charged with vagrancy and held under $250 bonds each.

Hearing for the five men, all of whom live outside the city limits, was set for 2 p.m. tomorrow in city court.

Police said they found a dynamite detonating device, a heavily weighted billy club with carved on the handle, two heavy wooden mallets and a length of wire of the type used in setting off explosives in the car used by the arrested trio.

The car itself, Muller said, was plastered with numerous KKK signs.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A dynamite charge early today shattered a newly integrated, half-million-dollar Nashville elementary school.

The blast blew out the entire east wall of one wing and completely wrecked four classrooms in the Hattie Cotton school, where a single Negro first-grader was admitted quietly yesterday.

No Negroes had been expected to enroll in the predominantly white east Nashville school district and it was the only one of the six racially mixed schools that escaped without segregationist demonstrations.

The schools admitted a total of 15 Negro first-graders in their first step toward court-ordered desegregation. There are 3,500 first graders including 2,000 whites among the city's 18,000 school pupils. Continued on Page Three

'Patience' Urged by Ike in L. R. Case

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower was quoted as saying today "patience is the important thing" in the government's efforts to resolve the school integration crisis in Little Rock, Ark.

The President's view was reported to newsmen by a Rhode Island Republican leader who conferred with Eisenhower shortly after the vacation White House announced the Justice Department will seek "some time this afternoon" a court injunction in the Little Rock case.

Acting on orders from U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald W. Davies, the department will seek to restrain Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus from barring Negroes from Little Rock's Central High School.

The government's plan to file for an injunction against Faubus late in the day was announced by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty after he had conferred by telephone with Atty. Gen. Brownell in Washington.

Hagerty relayed a report on Brownell's plans to Eisenhower shortly before the President conferred with Bayard Rustin, Rhode Island's Republican national committeeman, and other GOP leaders from that state.

The President then went across Narragansett Bay for another round of golf at Newport Country Club.

Ewing told a sidewalk news conference that Eisenhower "is very much concerned" about the Little Rock situation.

Carrie Seems to Be Building in Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The season's third hurricane, crept along its west-northwest course over ocean wastes today, twice as fast with half the distance to go to the general vicinity of land areas.

Hurricane Carrie was located at 6 a.m. (Atlantic Standard Time) 675 miles east-northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico. An advisory from the U.S. Weather Bureau at San Juan said the storm was carrying 100-mile an hour peak winds and moving west-northwest at 9 m.p.h. It was expected to increase to 10 m.p.h. the next 12 hours.

If Carrie stayed on course — a prospect which could not be guaranteed — it would pass San Juan 300 to 400 miles to the northeast and find additional hundreds of miles of open sea in its path.

Miami, nearest U.S. mainland point to the hurricane, is about 1,000 miles west-northwest of San Juan.

Tropical storm Debbie, which formed in the Gulf of Mexico after Carrie was discovered, blew northward over Georgia and the Carolinas after pounding Florida with heavy rain and 35-45 mile winds Sunday.

Tech School Will Go to Pine Bluff

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pine Bluff has been chosen as the location of the state's first vocational-technical school and an Education Board committee will inspect property sites offered for the institution.

The board announced yesterday it had selected Pine Bluff because it is centrally located.

Accompanying the committee on its visit to Pine Bluff next Sunday will be Howard Eichenbaum, a member of a Little Rock architectural firm which will design the school.

Early last month, the Education Board said it had narrowed its possible site choices to Pine Bluff, Magnolia or Camden. More than 20 communities had asked for the school.

The 1957 Legislature authorized construction of a vocational-technical school for training persons over 16 in each of the state's six congressional districts. But the Legislature appropriated only 500,000, enough to construct and equip just one school.

Education Board members who will visit Pine Bluff to look over the sites offered are: Rhodie Rhodes of Harrison, T. C. Cogbill Jr., of Star City and Dr. John Cole of Malvern.

Two National Guard Officers Also Summoned

From Our Wire Services

LITTLE ROCK — The Justice Department, acting to "protect the integrity" of the federal courts, filed an injunction petition against Gov. Orval Faubus today for his continued defiance of school integration mandates.

U. S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies, who requested the drastic measure against the Arkansas chief executive, immediately ordered a subpoena served on Faubus and two National Guard officers commanding troops stationed at a Little Rock high school.

Faubus accepted the summons from the court which was delivered to him in person by U.S. Marshal Basil Kidd. The marshal was admitted to the mansion without incident by Lt. Col. Hobart Copeland of the National Guard.

The governor, smiling, walked from the mansion with Kidd after the subpoena was served, then returned to his official residence.

Two deputy marshals—Bob Powell and Ira Sutterfield—served the summons on Lt. Col. Marion T. Johnson, unit commander of the National Guard unit at Central High. He accepted it without comment.

Davies set a hearing for Sept. 20 at 10 a.m. east and directed federal marshals to serve a summons on Faubus—living behind his National Guard unit at the executive mansion—and upon the state military chiefs.

The governor presumably could be cited for contempt of court should he fail to appear at the court hearing.

Attorney General Brownell filed the injunction suit asking Federal District Court here to prevent Faubus from further interference with Little Rock Central High School.

The petition cites the orders by Faubus to state Adjutant General Sherman T. Clinger which placed the school off limits to Negroes.

In less than an hour, Judge Davies issued an order setting the hearing on the plea for a temporary restraining order. The order said a "summons to appear shall be served forthwith" on the governor.

By RELMAN MORIN
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus, entrenched behind armed troops in his official mansion, watched the federal government's first legal moves today in the bitter struggle over integrating high schools in the Little Rock area.

Tension is building rapidly in the dramatic, fast-moving story. It centers at three points —

1. The federal courts where U.S. attorneys are preparing to ask an injunction, naming Faubus as one of the defendants, and restraining any further interference with the order to integrate.

2. The North Little Rock High School — scene of the first outright racial violence yesterday — where all available police were ordered to take up guard stations today.

Hungarian question."

The proposal specifically named Prince Wan Waihayakon, foreign minister of Thailand and president of the General Assembly, as the special representative.

"His great standing as a world figure, his wisdom and skill as a diplomatist, and his deep devotion to the principles and purposes of the United Nations qualify him eminently for such a task as we have in mind," Lodge said.

Prince Wan would be given the authority "to take such steps as he deems appropriate."

A spokesman for the U.S. delegation said this constituted a wide-open mandate under which he could "go where he wants and do what he thinks best."

He said, in response to a question, that as far as the United States was concerned this certainly would include Moscow.

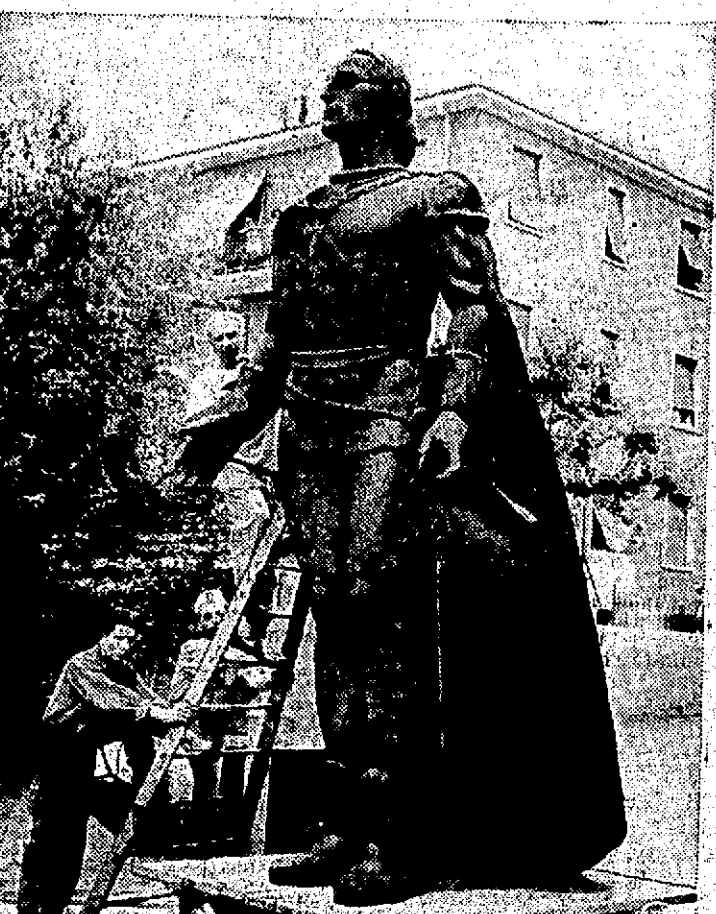

Prince Wan had no immediate comment on the proposal, but it was known that Lodge and British Delegate Sir Pierson Dixon had consulted him before putting his name in the resolution.

The Thai diplomat was selected because of his record of good relations with both the Communist and the Western powers. He served as one of the chairmen of the Geneva Far Eastern Conference in 1944, along with Russia's V. M. Molotov and Britain's Sir Anthony Eden.

Sponsors of the plan said the five-nation committee of inquiry, created last January, would continue to exist but would not be given any further responsibilities.

Steps Possible to Restrain Faubus

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies, representing the power of the federal government in dealing with states, has met the challenge of Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas by moving toward a showdown.

Although Davies' in accordance with the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation had ordered Little Rock's Central High Integrated, Faubus used the state's National Guard to keep Negro children out of the school.

Faubus said he wasn't defying the judge but just trying to prevent disorder and bloodshed. He said a majority of the people of Little Rock opposed integration.

Twice again last week, after the troops kept the Negroes out, Davies ordered integration to proceed. But Faubus held the guard around the school.

No matter what Faubus' stated purpose was, the net effect of his use of the troops was to interfere with the court's order to integrate the school. If Faubus could do this with impunity, all other Southern governors could do likewise.

And, if they did, the Supreme Court's ban on segregation would have no meaning. But that court's decision has the force of federal law. If state governors could nullify federal law, there would be a crisis in government.

Yesterday Davies directed the U. S. attorney general and the U. S. attorney at Little Rock to prepare injunction proceedings against Faubus and commanding officers of the Guard to stop their interference with school integration.

Ordinarily, this is the procedure.

The attorney general, acting in the public interest, as the judge sees it, has down reasons why a temporary injunction or restraining order should be issued.

The judge can, if he chooses, grant the injunction or order without a hearing. They are similar, but sometimes both the restraining injunction when the temporary injunction are used as separate steps.

2 Then—usually within 10 days—he issues an order to the one against whom the temporary injunction has been granted to show cause why a permanent injunction shouldn't be issued against him.

3 This show-cause order is delivered by a U. S. marshal.

4 Then the person given the show-cause order can appear before the judge to present his side of the case, fully and in open court, to argue against both the students attempting to enter. There are two key questions still to be answered—

Will the governor permit federal authorities to pass through the guards at the mansion and personally serve him with belated of the restraining order?

If he refuses, what action will the federal government take against him?

At a press conference in his mansion, Faubus gave his indication of steps he may take when the injunction is issued.

"I have not received official notice of it and it will be a very important legal question," he said. "I'd like to see the official notice to see just what it involves."

Reporters asked what the troops guarding the mansion would do if federal marshals attempt to enter to serve the notice.

He said, "They have no instructions on that point."

But the first big legal move was expected to be taken today.

At Newport, R. I., where President Eisenhower is vacationing, presidential press secretary James H. Derty yesterday announced:

"The attorney general has informed the President that the Department of Justice will comply with the order of the U. S. District Court as soon as possible, possibly tomorrow."

Meanwhile, there was intense speculation that the proposed meeting by the governors of five states, may be in jeopardy.

To dissolve the impasse between the U. S. government and Faubus, Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo, a Democrat, telephoned Faubus and laid before him a proposal to put the Little Rock dispute in the hands of five governors for study and recommendations.

Faubus said he deliberated for an hour and then telephoned his acceptance to Furcolo.

Sharing in the donation will be Arkansas' College of Batesville, College of the Ozarks at Clarksville, Harding College at Searcy, Hendrix College at Conway, John Brown University at Siloam Springs, Ouachita Baptist College at Arkadelphia and Southern Baptist College at Walnut Ridge.

Communist Party Said Declining

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Communist party is in decline, the editor of the Daily Worker said today.

In an article prepared for today's edition of the party paper, editor John Gates said the recent temporary and permanent injunctions.

5. The judge, hearing both sides, then decides whether to issue a permanent injunction.

But this is where the story becomes complex and unpredictable.

Take it step by step. Davies can issue a temporary injunction, ordering Faubus not to use the troops to keep the Negroes out of school. If Faubus obeys, he is next served with the show-cause order by a U. S. marshal.

If he should use troops around his mansion to keep the marshal out, and refuse to present his side of the case, the judge still could issue the permanent injunction without him.

But suppose Faubus doesn't want to obey the temporary injunction. He can go over Davies' head to the U. S. Court of Appeals, asking it to stay Davies' temporary injunction. If he wins, the situation is back where it started before Davies issued the temporary injunction.

But suppose he tries the appellate court and loses—or just doesn't bother going there—and, disobeying Davies' temporary injunction, still holds troops around the school to keep the Negroes out.

What then Davies could cite him for contempt for ignoring, or disobeying the temporary injunction. Then he could try Faubus for civil contempt and slap him in jail until he obeyed or try him for criminal contempt and give him a flat jail sentence for disobedience.

But that raises a question: Suppose Faubus ignored the temporary injunction by keeping troops around the school and then refused to go or let himself be taken to court to face trial on contempt charges?

The judge could try and sentence him in absentia. But how could the sentence be carried out if Faubus kept himself surrounded by guardsmen? The Eisenhower administration would have to worry about that one.

The judge has no force, except for U. S. marshals, to bring anyone to court. But Eisenhower has said he would uphold the Constitution, which includes doing what is necessary to carry out the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation.

Batista Again Moves to End Cuba Revolt

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista's government moved today against any revolt in the ranks of the armed services, the chief bulwark of the Batista regime.

Sailors were jailed and army officers transferred. Loyalty checks were ordered for all military personnel.

Col. Roberto Comencas, the naval commander at Cienfuegos when 150 sailors joined rebels last week in a bloody revolt, was replaced.

He and his able Cmdr, Soppe Borreto were ordered to appear before the navy general staff in Havana to explain the sailor insurrection.

The new Cienfuegos commander is Col. Arsenio Arzozolo, the Cuban naval rank of colonel corresponds to captain of frigates.

Despite Batista's announcement that the military services are loyal to him, the government has sent troops to Matanzas because of fear of mutiny at the naval station there, a usually reliable source reported.

The army announced the transfer of 20 lower echelon officers to new posts, mostly in the Havana area.

A maritime police chief was fired because some of his men joined in the Cienfuegos revolt.

Cuba generally is clam, except for scattered bombing. Planes and navy ships are watching the coast for possible landings of rebels from Mexico.

The number of casualties in the Cienfuegos revolt is estimated at between 200 and 250.

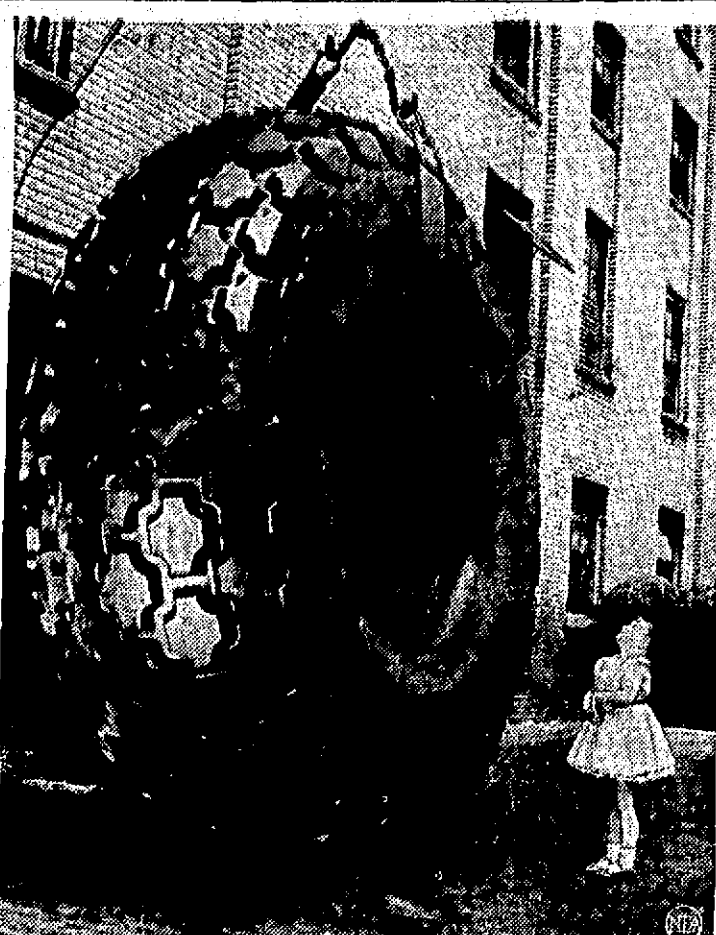

An official announcement said Benjamin Marrero, a noncommissioned navy officer, committed suicide by shooting himself. He Jose San Ramon Toledo, were said to have led the rebels. San Ramon was reported shot to death while fleeing.

resignation of foreign editor Joseph Clark was "another sign of the continuing decline."

Gates said the party lost 45 percent of its members in the past year. Clark had said the membership had declined by at least 7,000 from the 17,000 members reported last year.

Gates' article nominally is a reply to Clark's resignation statement in yesterday's Worker. Clark quit the party after 28 years.

Gates said Clark resigned because he felt he could no longer serve the cause of socialism effectively in the party and on the Worker.

The Fidelis Sunday School Class will have quarterly Sunday School party at the Methodist Church at 7 p.m. September 12.

Thursday, September 12

Baker Home Demonstration Club will meet Thursday, September 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. W. White, 1224 Ada Street.

Pat Cleburne Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy meets Thursday afternoon September 12 at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. H. C. Whitworth.

Junior-Senior High P. T. A. will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Junior High School Auditorium. There will be an Executive Board meeting at 2:30.

Joint Meeting of WSCS

All circles of the Woman's Society of the First Methodist Church met Monday September 9 at 2 p.m. for the regular monthly meeting.

The meeting opened with scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Edwin Ward and followed by group singing. "We've a Story to Tell the Nations."

Mrs. Albert Graves presented the program on "Geographical Cinerama of Missions," assisted by Mrs. Edward Aslin and Mrs. V. D. Keeley.

Mrs. Albert Graves, vice president, presided during the business session, and a report was heard from all of the circle chairmen. Circle count was taken with Circle 2 and 3 having the most present. The Ovaridrenal Glands were read by Mrs. E. J. McCabe.

The meeting closed with prayer.

J. O. Shaw Honored

Mr. J. D. Shaw celebrated his 72nd birthday Sunday September 8, and those present were: Mrs. Lena Runnels, Locksburg, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams and children of Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers and children; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Palmer and children all from Hope. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Pennington and children from Emmet; Mr. and Mrs. David Oller and children of Spring Hill; Mr. and Mrs. James Lee and children from Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Runnels and children from Locksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hipp and children of Texarkana.

Fifty-two friends and relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Osborn called during the afternoon; two daughters, Mrs. Archie Cox and Mrs. James Lee and a grandson, Larry Hipp celebrated their birthday also.

Claude W. Rosenbaum Honored With Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver S. Moss, 105 E. Hanna Street, gave a dinner in honor of Mrs. Moss' nephew from Kansas City, Mo., Claude W. Rosenbaum who will go into military service September 9. Mr. and Mrs. Moss moved here from Kansas City, Mo., to make Hope their home. Mr. Moss is a retired railroad man.

The dining room was beautifully decorated with early fall flowers. There were 28 relatives including Claude Jr., Father C. C. Rosenbaum, twin brother George C. Rosenbaum, wife and son Randy, two sisters, Mrs. Sol Ward and husband; Mrs. Paul Walker and husband and daughter Linda of Texarkana. Many other relatives and families called during the afternoon.

The twins made their home with Mr. and Mrs. Moss in Kansas City before moving to Hope.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Price of Irving, Texas, announce the arrival of a son born August 30. Mrs. Price will be remembered as the former Gladys Mae Roberts of Hope.

alized, soulless machine. Do you know a traveling salesman? Have him bring back free stationary, hotel soap and towels.

5. When you mail checks to pay your bills, omit stamps from the envelopes. Let the firm that is getting your money pay the postage.

6. Of medical expenses getting you down, borrow pills from the guys in your office. Sooner or later you'll find a man with the same ailment you have. Another advantage: By taking pills indiscriminately you may be curing something that's wrong with you that you don't even know about.

7. Leave your own car in the garage more. Start riding to work with your neighbor. If after a month or so, he suggests it's your turn to buy the gas, cut the churl dead. Ride with another neighbor.

8. Never buy your own salt, pepper or sugar cubes. All of these items are available free at the restaurant where you lunch. Fill your pockets. Another suggestion: Never order soup at a restaurant. Simply ask the waiter to bring you a cup of hot water for your ulcer. Then pour in bottled ketchup, stir well—and you have a wonderful tomato soup for nothing.

Arthur Murry Explains His TV Success

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Murray finds success as one of television's most unusual producers simple to explain.

"The how," he says, "makes women somehow feel that maybe there's a bit of life in the old girl yet."

This largely comes about, he explained, as feminine viewers identified themselves with Kathryn Murray, his wife and the star of the show, an eight year network perennial which winds up its current stint on NBC-TV next Monday with a $75,000 splash. Most of the cost, in line with other off-beat aspects of the "Arthur Murray Party" will be underwritten by Murray himself.

In addition to its particular charm for the ladies, Murray feels the "Party" is to be second in highly competitive New York is largely a matter of being on the right spot at the right time. He won't go on the air before 8:30 p.m.—"This is a show in which a lot of viewers feel they are getting away from the everyday, and you can't do that if the dishes are still in the sink."

Perhaps more than any other major TV enterprise the show remains the family enterprise of the two Murrys.

He produces, plans, directs the shows, "and sometimes I even teach the guests there dance routines." She is the personality around whom the whole enterprise pivots.

"People like to see someone on the air whom they can consider a friend," says Murray of his wife. "They like to have her come into their home. She never talks down to them."

As to Mrs. Murray, "she prefers to be on the air Sunday night most of all because then most of her friends can be watching," he said.

It is the financial end of the "Arthur Murray Party" which displays some of the show's most unusual characteristics.

A man who reaped a fortune previously by teaching people to dance, Murray went on the air with his own money and although often sponsored, he still pays much of the costs.

Faubus Doubts Industry Hurt

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said last night he didn't think Arkansas' industrialization program has been harmed by his halting of scheduled integration at Central High School here through use of National Guardsmen.

And he said there was nothing to a report that Winthrop Rockefeller had resigned as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission because of dissatisfaction with the governor's stand.

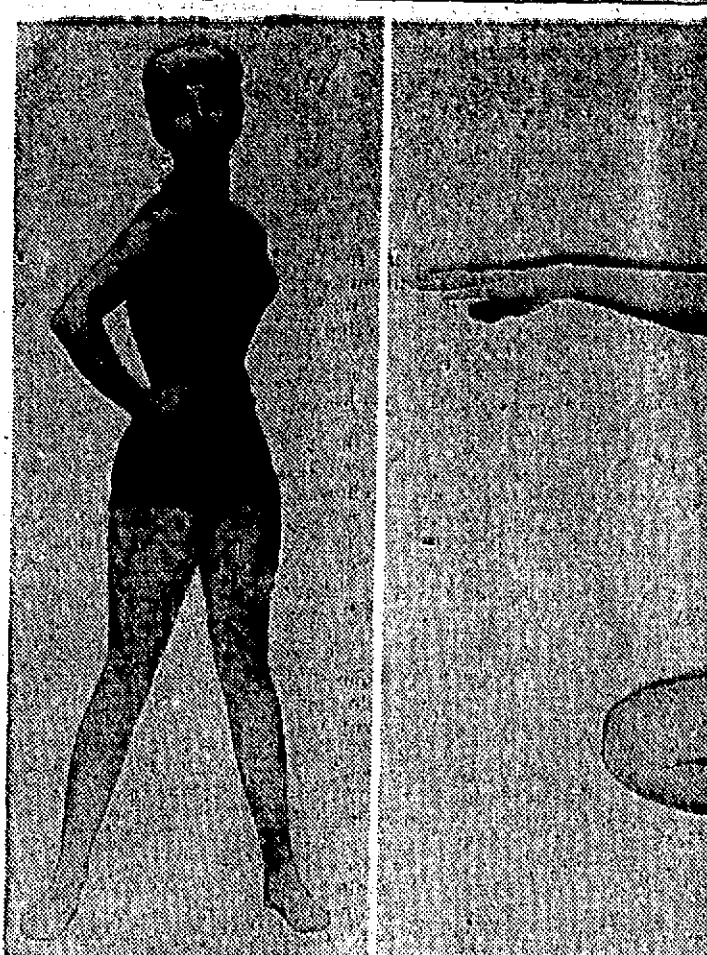

Faubus made his comments to newsmen after completion of a panel discussion on the Little Rock situation carried over nationwide television and radio hookup.

turned Monday night from Albuquerque, New Mexico, after a visit with their son, C. P. Drake and another son, Garland L. Drake of Snyder, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shipp and children of Memphis, Tenn., were weekend guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. George Crews of Hope Route two.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Langston accompanied Edward Cooper to Southern State College, where he is a music major.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Munn of Odessa, Texas, arrived Tuesday morning for a visit with Mrs. Munn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Langston.

Exercise, neither overly strenuous nor difficult, is the best way of getting and keeping a lovely figure. It's the only way to keep muscles elastic and body lines trim. Here, Hollywood actress Venetta Stevenson demonstrates three ways to a trim figure. She does a simple waist-twisting exercise (left) to exercise the midriff and keep bulges from accumulating. This can be done at odd moments during the day. Squatting exercise (center) is good for thigh line and back, helps develop poise and posture. Stretch exercise (right) prevents body slump and keeps you straight and tall. The actress finds this an easy exercise to do whenever she has a few spare minutes. Venetta Stevenson will next be seen in "Darby's Rangers."

MADE FOR EACH OTHER—Opposites didn't attract here, if the freckle display by these two newlyweds means anything. The Bel Air, Calif., couple—Tami Conner, 19, and Paul O'Keefe, 20—compare spots after they'd said "I do." Mrs. O'Keefe just finished a role in the movie "Peyton Place" and is under contract to 20th Century-Fox. Her husband is a student at the University of California.

DOROTHY DIX

"Good Listener" Tired of Friends' Troubles

Dear Dorothy Dix: My problem is trivial in comparison to most you receive, but it bothers me a lot. Am I choosing the wrong company, or am I adopting a wrong attitude?

As long as I can remember, the only friends I've had are those who have problems and want to unload themselves. People always come to me in trouble, but when things are going well for them, I'm forgotten. I want to know folks when they're happy, too. Of course I may be wrong and would appreciate your telling me if I am.

It seems I'm continually on the telephone listening to other people's woes.

H. M. Dear H. M.: Evidently you have no talent for getting the reins of conversation into your hands. You are tagged as a "good listener," which means your ears are receptive to anyone and your mouth never glibly passes on confidences. This could, and should, be taken as a compliment.

However, like most good things, this, too, can be overdone. Since you'd like to share conversation and occasionally talk about your own troubles, do it! When Sally calls to talk over her hard day, just squeeze her out and tell your troubles. When your friends learn that they can't monopolize you, the visits and telephone calls will take a sharp drop.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 14 and I am very fond of a boy 17. He has a car, but as he has wrecked two cars, my mother won't let me drive with him. We go to church and dances together, but can't go anywhere if he has to drive.

BOBO Dear Bobo: Can you blame Mom for not wanting you to be a statistic in the auto fatality column? Let your young friend acquire a reputation as a careful driver, and he'll win you as a passenger.

Dead Dorothy: Dix: We live in an apartment house with very thin walls. My neighbor's living room is next to my son's bedroom. They play TV so loud and argue so much that my son can't sleep. Is there something I can do about it?

MRS. K. P. Dear Mrs. K. P.: I'm sorry, but as long as your neighbors don't constitute a public nuisance, there's nothing you can do about them. For your son's protection, you might hang heavy curtains or blankets against the wall. This would shut out some of the noise.

Evangelists

SPECIAL PROGRAM at Hope Gospel Tabernacle at 7:30 Wednesday night will feature the Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Vandermere who will present a full color movie of Missionary Service in East Africa. The couple has appeared in Hope on several occasions and it is expected they will be added to the local church's missionary service. They will return to East Africa soon where they expect to establish a mission station. The Rev. W. C. Land, pastor, extends an invitation to everyone to attend this special service.

to stand. Harriman was one of the governors to whom Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts had proposed that a bipartisan committee of governors be named to seek a solution of the integration problem in Little Rock.

Furcolo said he was delighted that Faubus had endorsed the proposal.

Furcolo said that Faubus, in accepting the plan, told him he thought it best that the proposed committee be made up of two governors from states which have integration problems—excluding Arkansas—and two from states which have solved the integration question. A fifth governor from a state unaffected by the integration decision also would serve.

Furcolo said he made the proposal to Faubus, Harriman, Gov. G. Mennen Williams (D-Mich.), Gov. George Leader (D-Pa.), Gov. Orville L. Freeman (D-Wis.), Gov. Thomas B. Stanley (D-Va.), and presidential aide Sherman Adams.

Leader commended the plan but declined to serve due to the pressure of his schedule. Leader had no immediate comment on the Little Rock situation.

Williams said at Lansing, Mich., that "it's unfortunate that things appear to have reached the stage where state governors have to undertake the solution of a problem which ought to be the responsibility of the President."

In Springfield, Ill., Stratton would neither affirm nor deny that Furcolo had called him. Furcolo said he asked Stratton, chairman of the Governors' Conference, to appoint the committee. Stratton refused to comment on the Little Rock situation.

New Jersey's Gov. Meyner said he was always reluctant to discuss matters pending in court but "in the Arkansas case, I am certainly on the side of the United States government."

"Five U. S. warships yesterday approached the Syrian coast in a way that constitutes an open challenge and violates international protocol. Furthermore, two unidentified jet fighter planes today (Monday) flew at an extremely high altitude over Latakia port."

Coupled with the army spokesman's accusations were charges from the Syrian Foreign Ministry that the United States is interfering in Syria's domestic affairs and "preparing an atmosphere for anti-Syrian aggression."

The dynamite blast came only a few hours after police had dispersed a violent crowd of about 500 segregationists who were smashing windshields and windows of Negroes automobiles with bricks and bottles as they passed Feln school.

Feln, which is located in a borderline Negro-white residential district, was the focal point of much of yesterday's disorders. Three persons were arrested in the day and night disturbances, including one woman who was arrested twice.

No injuries have been reported so far.

Police Sgt. John Irwin said he found a detonating cap wire at the scene. He said the dynamite apparently was exploded in the school entrance hall between the library and a classroom.

The concussion ripped through

Yankees Take Out Little More Pennant Insurance

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The Yankees never take any chances, so even with a fal 5 1/2-game lead and Mickey Mantle back in uniform, they bought a bit of added pennant insurance today by acquiring outfielder Bobby Del Greco from the Chicago Cubs.

Mantle, feeling "much better" after a four-day stay in the hospital because of shin splints, was given the green light to play against Cleveland tonight if he wants and he indicated he would. He still trails ailing Ted Williams in the fight for the batting crown, .369 to .376.

Although Hank Bauer, recovering from a broken leg, in his right mind, also might be ready to face the Indians, the Yankees felt they could use another experienced outfielder for the stretch run. Hence, the purchase of the 24-year-old Del Greco from the Cubs.

The tunky, right-handed hitting outfielder spent most of the current season with Montreal of the International League, from where the Cubs recalled him Monday. He had a .278 batting average that included seven home runs in 118 games with the Royals.

Shortly after the Cubs brought him up, the Yankees offered an unspecified sum of cash plus a player to be delivered next year and the deal was made.

Del Greco may be remembered as one of the central figures in what General Manager Frank Lane calls "the worst deal" he ever made. Lane and Cardinal manager Fred Hutchinson personally scouted Del Greco one day while he still was with Pittsburgh and saw him connect for two homers.

The Cardinal pair were so favorably impressed that they dealt off Bill Virdon to the Pirates in exchange for Del Greco, May 18, 1956. But Del Greco failed to hit for the Cards and they traded him to the Cubs for outfielder Jim King last April. Shortly afterward, the Cubs sent him down.

"He's young, though, and he could help us the next few weeks," explained a Yankee spokesman.

In any case, the Yankees, with 16 games remaining, take on the western invaders for the last time this season. Right — hander Bob Turley, the world champs' most consistent pitcher recently, will face southpaw Don Mossi of the Tribe tonight.

After tonight's game and one Wednesday with Cleveland, the Yanks will have a first hand opportunity to widen their lead against the second-place Chicago White Sox, whom they meet Friday and Saturday.

Casey Stengel said lefty Bobby Shantz will pitch against Cleveland Wednesday and that it will be Whitey Ford and Tom Sturdivant against the White Sox. Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan are Al Lopez' nominees to go against the Yankees.

Over in the National League, where the Milwaukee Braves also have a 5 1/2-game lead, they face the happy prospect of playing 15 of their 18 remaining games at home.

Pittsburgh supplies Milwaukee's opposition tonight, with rookie Whammy Douglas of the Pirates slated to face Lew Burdette.

The second-place Cardinals, at home against the Phillies, will send Sam Jones against Harvey Haddix, while the third-place Dodgers, seven games back but still hoping for a miracle, have nominated left-handed Sandy Koufax to oppose Don Dixon of the Cubs at Chicago.

The Giants are in Cincinnati in the other scheduled NL game. No major league games were played Monday.

Johnson, Bethea Battle Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Johnson and Wayne Bethea clash tonight in a 10-round bout that could put a decisive winner into talking position for a meeting with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Johnson, still on the comeback trail after his "bitter orange" incident in May, 1955, already has regained his position as the No. 1 challenger for Archie Moore's light heavyweight crown.

But Johnson said recently that he was more interested in meeting Patterson. His last effort was against the powers of Clarence Hinman May 31, at St. Nic Arena in New York.

Says Force by U. S. Means State Lost

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — If the federal government moves into Arkansas by force or in any other manner to limit the power of the governor "we will have lost our last right of local self-government," Gov. Orval Faubus said today.

The governor thus drew a sharp line between state rights and federal authority which he is challenging in the Little Rock integration case.

"If blood is then shed, my conscience will be clear, but I will weep for my people," the governor said in a television speech.

He said given the opportunity "We can accomplish an orderly and nonviolent integration of our public schools in this state."

The governor also said U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota has appeared "high-handed and arbitrary" in dealing with the Little Rock integration problem.

He blasted Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann, who has become the governor's chief antagonist, as a "discredited, repudiated city official" who will leave office soon.

In his speech, Faubus said he wanted to review the actions of the North Dakota judge "who arrived here only a few days ago. He has had three hearings on this matter, one hour and 24 minutes was the total time consumed in all three hearings, on a matter so important — matter in which the peace and good order of the community is involved, as well as the lives and property of its citizens."

Judge Davies, filling a vacant Arkansas federal district bench temporarily, has twice ruled that integration must begin "forthwith" and once denied the school board's request that his integration order be postponed to allow tension to ease.

Faubus' use of National Guard troops to prevent Negro students entering Central High School were described last night by Mayor Mann as amounting to rebellion. Mann called Faubus' claim that threatened violence moved him to act with the guard a manufactured emergency with political overtones.

Eight of the 10 Little Rock aldermen, however, supported Faubus.

THE STORY: A man's body was fished out of a pond near where Sarah Casement was staying on Cape Cod. There is also a firebug at work in the neighborhood. So far, neither of these things seem to have a very close relationship with the death of Grant Melville, the painter, Sarah believes Melville was murdered.

CHAPTER XIV

The car that drove off down the road after Steven Task arrived home was Bert Symons'.

The cargo he was conveying through the night, the unknown man who had been fished out of the pond late that afternoon, put no weight on his spirit. When a man was dead, he was dead, and that was all there was to it, and someone had to take care of people when they passed on. It was his bread and butter, and he had no quarrel with it. There was no ambulance in the town and he was paid a yearly sum for the use of his facilities when required. The funeral probably wouldn't be too profitable a job, unless they found out who the guy was and he turned out to have money. But there'd be something in it anyhow.

Symons bowed along at a fast clip. He reached home at around 1:30 and drove the wagon into the garage. There was a bell there. He pressed it for his son Joe, who was his assistant, and got out leisurely. Yawning and stretching, he went around the wagon, opened the door, started to pull the log basket toward him, stopped, and threw up the lid.

At what he saw his jaw dropped and his eyes all but fell out of his head. He kept on staring down. He hadn't looked closely at the still confided to his care when he put him into the basket — he'd see enough of him later on. Things like this didn't happen. Nobody would do such a thing.

"What's the matter, Pop?"

Joe Symons, a tall thin youth in a white shirt and Army pants, looked at his father in amazement, and was greeted by a flood of profanity.

Before his father could get going on him the phone in the garage started shrilling. Symons took the call. It was from the Cornwall firehouse. Panzig, the fire chief, was on the other end of the line. He wanted Symons to come and collect another body, the body of the man who had burned to death in the summer cottage on the hill behind the Cornwall church.

"O.K.," Symons mumbled, and rang off and took the receiver away and dialed the police station with a shaking finger.

If Bert Symons was thrown into complete and utter confusion by the discovery he made when he reached home that night, the police, the medical examiner and the police generally public were equally so.

The story hit the countryside like a bomb early the next day. The body of the man found drowned in the pond in Cornwall had been stolen from Bert Symons' basket wagon while Symons was playing poker with Peter Sproul.

The autopsy finding showed that there was no smoke in the lungs of the charred corpse discovered in the smoking ruins of the summer cottage on the hill behind the church. The man there hadn't burned to death. He was already dead when the fire broke out. There was no second corpse. The body fished up out of the water and stolen from Bert Symons and the body removed from the ruins of the burned cottage were one and the same. The macabre thief had transported the man found drowned in the pond to the empty cottage up on the hill behind the church, and he cottage had then been put to the torch.

When Steven had come home and told them about the man burned to death in the summer cottage Sarah had said at once, "My man — my tramp. The man who was burned to death is the man who was in the stone house and who was scared out of it when I arrived last Saturday — when Carlotta and I went over and went in. I'm sure of it."

Carlotta and Tom pook-pooked her. Steven didn't. He got up and went to a drawer in one of the kitchen cabinets.

Carlotta hooted at Steven when he found the keys in the drawer. Keys were here now didn't mean a thing. Their house was always open, whether they were there or not, and people wandered in and out at will.

Sarah thought of the lamp Bob Brown had returned yesterday evening, the spot lamp with the long cord. She spoke of it. How had Bob Brown gotten into the house to borrow the lamp in the first place?

Carlotta frowned, then her face cleared. She said Florrie had wanted it early in September for her birthday party, to light up their lawn. She admitted that Florrie hadn't asked her for the keys and that she must have taken them, but she had brought them back openly.

Carlotta was puzzled, and then dismayed. "Steven, you mean that someone we know, one of our friends, opened the house for a strange man, so he could stay there?"

Steven shrugged. "It certainly looks like it. Figure it out for yourselves," he said. "A man we don't know, a stranger to us, comes to stay in Grace's house. He's supposedly a friend of Grace's. Who's going to challenge that? She's loaned the house to half a dozen different people, people we didn't know from Adam before they came here. I can't think of any other way this fellow could have gotten in. The house is pretty tightly locked up."

Tommy Sands Plans Career, Carefully

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — "I'm not the handsomest guy in the world. There are lots of others who can sing better and act better. That's why it's best for me to plan my career as carefully as I can."

This is the modest statement of just-jawed, eager Tommy Sands, 20-year-old singing sensation. He's a bundle of ambition, and no wonder — he was a flop for nine whole years!

"Ever since I was 11, I wanted to get ahead in show business," he said. Tommy's luck started to change one night when he was singing in a Houston dance hall. "Colonel" Tom Parker, who was then managing Eddy Arnold, heard the lad sing and figured him as a comer. The colonel started managing another singer named Presley, but he remembered Tommy and tossed him an occasional job.

Last January, Presley was south for an hour-long TV drama, "The Singing Idol." He was tied up in a picture, so Parker suggested Tommy Sands.

Tommy was a sensation. Wham-mo, everything started happening to him! He was signed by Capitol Records. His first record, "Teenage Crush," sold more than a million copies. He made guest appearances on a dozen TV shows. He drew screaming mobs at the RKO Theater in New York.

He was signed to a contract by 20th Century-Fox and now he's starring in a film version of "The

Dallas Judge to Sign Order to Integrate

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Federal Judge William H. Atwell said today he would sign an order prepared by attorneys representing Negroes to end segregation in Dallas public schools after the Christmas holidays.

The order was one of two submitted at a special hearing today. The other order was submitted by Andrew J. Thuss, attorney for the Dallas Independent School District.

Judge Atwell in effect refused to accept the order submitted by Thuss because it did not specify a specific date for integration.

However, the order submitted by the Negro attorney did specify a date and was accepted with exception of its last paragraph which the judge ruled was not pertinent. Judge Atwell told attorneys for the Negroes to retype their order and present it to him during the day.

U. Simpson Tate, attorney for the Negroes, declined to discuss details of the order he had drawn.

He said that it followed the mandate of the U. S. Supreme Court issued July 23, 1957.

Judge Atwell said he had received a copy of this mandate only today. The mandate, which he read in court, restrained and enjoined the school board from requiring segregation of any school of the district. It also allows for the school board to arrange assignment of students.

Truman Says Davies Read the Law

NEW YORK (UP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Sunday that Federal Judge Ronald Davies "followed the law and the Constitution" when he refused to rescind his order to integrate troubled Little Rock Central High School.

Truman and his wife arrived here for a week's visit with their daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel, her husband, Clifton Daniel, and their infant son, Clifton Truman Daniel.

The former president declined to comment on the action of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus in calling out National Guard troops to prevent Negroes from attending the high school. He also refused to offer any suggestions to President Eisenhower on how to cope with the situation.

Truman said he did not want "to muddy up the waters" with any statements.

But when asked about Davies' action Saturday, Truman smiled and said:

"I followed the law and the Constitution. It's a matter for the law to decide."
